

Rachael Robertson - Speaker Introduction

Note to EmCee

Thank you for reading this beforehand, familiarising yourself with the content and delivering the introduction with GUSTO! Cheers, Rachael.

Introduction

Imagine living in 24 hours of darkness for months at a time...

Imagine the temperature hovering around minus 35 degrees

You can't get in or out...

You didn't even get to pick the people you live with...

And... you're stuck there for a year!

Antarctica in Winter is totally inaccessible – which means once the last ship leaves in February no one can get in or out of the place, ever, until the ship returns in November.

Our next speaker today did exactly that.

Rachael Robertson led an expedition to Antarctica and was responsible for the welfare and safety of the 18 members of her team for an entire year.

Today she will share how she led and inspired her team through the long, tough Antarctic year.

Please welcome Rachael...
